Grant to fund ‘healthy’ east Salinas

Community members, leaders make report to California Environmental Program

The report outlines ways to address the issue of water contamination in east Salinas, including incentives for homeowner to replace the plumbing. It suggests the planning committee should consider initiatives that help homeowners replace the plumbing. It also recommends the city to explore options for incentives and education programs to address the issue.

Muralists make local impression

Farr White House approves framework for gang prevention

King City, businesses join forces on crime

State sees successful condor birth

Federal resources go toward fighting gangs in Salinas

Salinas-area mortgage delinquencies outstrip the average for state

---

TEXT ALERTS

To get local breaking news updates sent to your cell phone, send a text message with "Salinas" to 40403.